If someone you love has a drug problem...

Do you find yourself making excuses, lying or covering up for someone?

Are your suspicions turning you into a detective and are you afraid of what you may find?

Do you have a reason not to trust this person?

If it is your child, is he/ she missing school often without your knowledge? If it is your spouse, is he/ she missing work and leaving bills to pile up?

Is it becoming difficult for you to believe his/her explanations?

Are you cancelling your social functions with vague excuses?

Do you lie awake worrying about this person?

Do you keep trying to make things better and nothing helps? Are you asking yourself, "What's wrong?" and "Is it my fault?"
